geographers occupational outlook handbook u s bureau - geographers study the earth and the distribution of its land features and inhabitants they also examine political or cultural structures and study the physical and human geographic characteristics of regions ranging in scale from local to global, homepage ron boschma human geography and spatial planning - research research interests evolutionary economic geography spatial evolution of industries geography of innovation proximity and relatedness, gravity model of trade wikipedia - the gravity model of international trade in international economics is a model that in its traditional form predicts bilateral trade flows based on the economic sizes often using gdp measurements and distance between two units the model was first used by jan tinbergen in 1962 the basic model for trade between two countries i and j takes the form of