oracle application server wikipedia - The Oracle Application Server (OAS) is a software platform that provides a suite of tools and services for building and deploying enterprise applications. It is based on Oracle's database technology and includes features such as web applicatio...